

Dissertation deals with the image didactic means used for the teaching of selected chapters of cytology. Scientific illustration – which is the image and the scheme – meets two roles as far as the biology is concerned: scientific and aesthetic. These two spheres do not exclude each other. On the contrary, by their interconnection and applying interdisciplinary relations of the biology and the fine arts it is possible to vary and upgrade the teaching of those two subjects.