

Abstract

The bachelor thesis is conceived as theory - historical. It describes historical development and present of nursing profession in Hospital Jablonec nad Nisou. The thesis is divided to four main terms according to historical events which immediately closely relates with development of hospital. The first chapter is intercepting hospital in Austria - Hungary monarchy's term. It describes factors of creation and beginnings of first hospital in town, gradual development of single departments and it is dealing with first nurses from Congregation of the Sisters of Mercy of St. Charles Borromeo. The second chapter register years of First republic and World war II and is devoted to building new hospital's pavilions, which created new working grounds for that time nurses. Next chapter captures destiny of nursing staff of German's origin during resettlement and work done by these former employees in collecting camps hospital in Jablonec's region. The third chapter's term is to capture hospital in times of communism regime and describes beginning of OÚNZ and education of nursing in region. The theses further summarizes present achievements of Jablonec's hospital, numbers, education and working conditions of nonmedical health workers and vision of convenience to future. The thesis is also enriched by nurse's memories and pictures attachment.

Key words

History of nursing, nursing in Jablonec, Hospital Jablonec nad Nisou, education of nurses