

Abstract

Title: Integrated Rescue System in the Czech Republic and its comparison with similar systems in selected counties in the European Union

Objectives: The main objective of this work is based on theoretical knowledge and create comprehensive and coherent overview about Integrated Rescue System in the Czech Republic, its structure, operating, tasks, and compare it with several similar systems in the European Union countries. .

Methods: Search learning materials, their study and research, not only about the Integrated Rescue System in the Czech Republic but also by foreigners. Bachelor thesis is theoretical, because it is to her writing requires the collection and classification of knowledge about the issue, searching for information in print and electronic publications and other resources available to deal with the actual theme of the Integrated Rescue System and related topics.

Results: Analysis and comparison rescue system in the Czech Republic and other selected states of the European Union based on a previous study of sources and study materials.

Keywords: System, Rescue, Europe, Comparison, Czech Republic