Evaluation

Major criteria:

Detailed knowledge of the activities of two of the main organisations in the countries analysed. A theoretical framework for the activities of non-state actors is not wide. The conclusion of the thesis does not match the name of the same thesis, although the research of the author it corresponds to. The hypotheses were confirmed.

Minor criteria:

Unstructured list of resources, I lack the more expert's articles on the topic of international organizations, non-governmental, and their real influence on the educational process.

Overall evaluation:

The author argues that the global influence of non-state actors is already evident over three decades. To what extent differs the literacy rate in the surveyed two countries now and 30 years ago? It is possible to find the link between the activities of these organizations and a growing education rate?

Suggested grade: Good (2)
