

Design and implementation of methods for automatic triangle mesh editing for contour creation. Optimisations are investigated at the level of triangulation algorithms, constraint adding with or without the knowledge of triangulation and at the level of modifying existing contours.