Annotation

Author: Anna Martincová

Institution   Charles University in Prague,

                       Faculty of Medicine in Hradec Králové,

                       Department of Social Medicine, Department of Nursing

Title: Selfesteem of nurses

Supervisor: PhDr. Mariana Štefančíková, Ph.D.

Number of pages: 88

Number of enclosures: 9

Year of defense: 2016

Keywords: self-esteem, helping profession, helper syndrome, burnout, self-knowledge, self-evaluation

The bachelor thesis deals with the nurse self-esteem. The theoretical part discusses the concepts of helping profession, personal and qualification skills and competences of nurse profession. Furthemore, the difficulties of the profession are desribed, such as helper syndrome, burnout and sorrorigenie (patient's psychosomatic damage caused by nurse). Self-knowledge is important for the nurse's self-conception and positive self-evaluation.

The practical part includes the results of qualitative survey aimed at nurse self-conception. The research was conducted using semi-structured interviews processed by means of phenomenological description, open coding and triangulation.