

The theme of this thesis are the possibilities of physiotherapy for patients with Morbus Bechterew. This thesis consists of theoretical and empirical part. The theoretical part analyzes Morbus Bechterew (ankylosing spondylitis), it's causes, examination and treatment with emphasis on application of physiotherapeutic methods
The empiric part describes course of physical therapy, the rehabilitation methods for treatment patients who completed spa treatment. For each patient is created input and output kinesiologie examination, treatment plan and the success of therapy is evaluated.