

Abstract

The aim of this thesis is to describe information resources and services for the field of nursing in the Czech Republic and to analyse their availability. In the theoretical introduction the field of nursing is delineated with an emphasis on its role, on its mission and on the influence of several philosophical schools on the historical development of this field. In the next chapter the institutions, workplaces and electronic information sources dedicated to nursing and similar fields are described. The research pertaining to this thesis includes an analysis of the provided information resources, information services and their availability. This area is mapped using the method of questionnaire analysis that was carried out at six faculties of medicine or health science at which nursing is being taught.