

The student deals with the contemporary Czech family and development of a pre- school child as regards from the point of view of teaching moral values. He observes undergoing situation and progression in family environment and in contemporary Czech community. The dissertation focuses of examining and finding differences in values of children and their parents.