

Abstract

Title: Dependence of the handball game result on quantity and efficiency of shots from wing position area

Objectives: Main objective of this thesis was to determine dependence of the handball game result on quantity and efficiency of shots from wing position area. Next subject of research was to compare average values of both, quantity and efficiency, of winning and losing teams.

Methods: statistical analysis, average value, comparison of average value

Results: It was found out, that results of handball games shows positive dependence on quantity and efficiency of shots from wing position area. Results of average value of quantity and efficiency on winning team are greater than average values on losing team (excluded only the quantity in games between teams to be ranked on place 1-6).

Key words: wing position, quantity, efficiency, game result dependence