

The theme of graduation theses is a myth in view of philosophy. It is concerned with species interaction myth, epos and logos; myth, philosophy and science; myth and education. There are two meanings of myth: an incorrect scheme and a deep structure, preexisting before thinking, which is manifested by mythology or arts.

There are three modalities of human being - science, philosophy and myth. Our education system is concentrating on science, but we are thinking, that philosophy and myth represented by creativity and arts are as important as well, so the education system would be brought into line with it.
