

The theme of the work are questions of future planning or more precisely choice of subsequent educational career and incoming profession by the pupils of the ninth grade of elementary level school. Ending of the compulsory school attendance and the choice of next way of education represent an important social turning-point in the life of schoolchild.

Thereabouts I was interested in the process of children's making decision on their intermediate school. Also I was concerned with pupils motives of the selection of concrete second school. The aspiration of the work is to come to the most important factors which affect and determine the choice of the intermediate school and consequently also the area of the future official position.

There were chosen pupils attending the elementary level school oriented on the design and visual arts for purposes of this work. In this work is attention paid to the schoolchildren which dispose of specific direction within the frame of elementary education.
