Summary

The aim of my bachelor's thesis is to describe the process of establishing a mobile hospice in the Czech Republic. The main focus is on essential measures that are necessary for establishing a mobile hospice from the theoretical perspective but it also includes several examples of good practice. The first part treats the concept of palliative care and related legislation. Further the thesis elaborates key steps of the establishing process of a mobile hospice regarding the management activities in practice. The conclusion deals with the management and the role of hospice as an institution where all relevant resources are efficiently integrated.
