Abstract

This bachelor thesis aims to find the prerequisites and motivation of Western couriers as a social group, it tries to see these couriers in the context of the Cold War and Czechoslovak history. This attempt is achieved through the interrogation protocols of the Czechoslovak secret police organization State Security.

Key words

courier, intelligence services, cold war, Czechoslovakia, fifties, state socialism.