

Kolin and its Jews community at the edge of the modern time.

In the following text there are collected and clearly arranged the basic information about the Kolín's town region and its history. The accent is putted on the coexistence of Jews and Christians at the end of the Austro - Hungarian monarchy in that, by the Prague, the most important locality settled by the Jews community.

The basic, historical part of the dissertation is closed by the study of the Kolín's significant Fischer's family. The example of this family clearly shows the problem of the relationship between Jews and Christians. There is also shown step by step difusibility of both cultures.

In the last practical part of the dissertation there are shown the usage possibilities of the collected information when the teaching the civil education and the elements of the social science at the secondary school and at the high school too.