

Abstract:

This bachelor thesis is focused on the current situation of prostitution. Defined area of the theme is Czech Republic. The work focuses the current situation. Attention will be given to people who have direct connection with prostitution – prostitutes, customers and intermediaries, but also the society itself. Thesis will map how contemporary society looks at this profession. This work will be based on professional literature and field research. During the field research informations regarding public attitude in a form of a questionnaire will be collected. Informations will be also obtained through dialogues from experts - e.g. sexologists. Last but not least the research will focus on prostitutes themselves. The last part of the field research will be based on questionnaires in online form.

Keywords:

Prostitution, prostitutes, male prostitutes, customers, pimps, erotic businesses, the public, the legal