The influence of tourism and recreation activities in a rock`s town An exemplary study - Adršpach_Teplice rocks

The aim of this work is to upvalue tourism in Adršpach-Teplice rocks, to show possible dangerous in a case of the intensity of visitors and the last aim is to recommend measures for the development of that area. To realize these aims I used the methods of the questionnaire and the field work. This work is about the visitors of Adršpach-Teplice rocks and about the owners of various types of accommodation and restaurants in this area. The part of this work is about the characterization of the protected areas with Adršpach-Teplice rocks among them. It is clear from this work that the visitors usually come during the summer season when the number of visitors is very high. It is necessary to support the soft Tourism all around the protected area Broumovsko. Adršpach-Teplice rocks are not important only for local area. Almost 50% of Czech visitors came from the distance of more than 100 km. About 80% of the owners of some types of accommodation are financially depended on summer seasons. Not to increase the number of visitors, it means to recommend some measures. One possibility is to build a parking place somewhere else, to set daily limits of visitors and to prepare better publicity of other surrounding rocks. These steps can improve the situation with the number of visitors there.
