

Dissertation „Possibilities of utilization of national historic landmark (NKP) Závist in teaching of natural science with botanical sight" acquaints its reader with characterization of natural and cultural situation of NKP Závist and proposes introduces a proposal of nature trail. It is divided in three parts. Principal aim of the first part was botanical survey of the locality. It was found, that there are 236 species and plants - both indigenous and planted. Furthermore there is described history of settlement NKP Závist, its natural conditions and its fauna. Didactical part discourses on educational methods used at excursions and important morphological signs required for identification of the plants. In last part is proposed the trace of the nature trail with short description of demonstrated plants. The worksheets covering the locality are also included.