

This work deals with people who are hearing impaired and their possibilities of employment. Having a hearing disability puts this group at much higher risk of unemployment. The theoretical section of this paper is focused on the possible causes of this phenomenon.