

ABSTRACT

The bachelor thesis deals with the problem of drinking alcohol among teenagers at secondary schools in Semily district. The theoretical part includes topics related to this thesis. It deals with the definition of alcohol, the history of alcohol, alcoholic drinks and the effects of alcohol. The bachelor contains information about alcohol and young people – adolescents and about their reasons why they drink alcohol. I also stated consumption statistics there. Finally, the theoretical part mentions a prevention and all their types.

In the practical part I did a questionnaire survey. I distributed questionnaires to students of the first and second grades at secondary schools. I put the information into a table and after that I commented it.

As emerged from the survey alcohol consumption among teenagers is still a current and discussed topic. The questionnaire survey confirmed that students of secondary school consume alcohol. In most cases if students drink alcohol in a proportionate amount their parents do not have a problem with it. Most of the students even noted that they drink alcohol with their parents.
