Studenti dělají revoluci: Role studentských časopisů a novin během sametové revoluce.

Abstract

The bachelor thesis "Students Make Revolution: The Role of Student Magazines and Newspapers during the Velvet Revolution." focuses on student magazines published by Prague university students in 1988 and 1989, highlighting the importance of their editorial offices and organization of the Student Press and Information Centre for the 17th November and the subsequent occupation strike. It outlines the most important milestones of student movements during the 19th century and the historical context of the late 1980s. The aim of the thesis is to examine how the editorial offices of the magazines contributed to the events of the Velvet Revolution.
