

The role of MR during imaging of the CNS in childhood age. Particularities of MR examination of the CNS in children, his role in processing of the radiological assistant during formation, modification and selection of the MR record.