

This bachelor thesis deals with the scientific social networks. Related terms as web 2.0, social media or Open Access are introduced in the first part of the work. The scientific social networks themselves are defined in the second part. This thesis introduces also the common used social networks which are widely used among scientists too. The outcomes from a qualitative research about social networks among researchers from medical faculties of Charles University are presented at the end of this thesis.