The work maps the development of the Hussite tradition in South Bohemia from the historical point of view.

The first part summarizes the development of the Hussian tradition during the centuries from the Poděbrady and Jagellon periods, through the period after Bílá Hora battle, the 19th century, the First Republic, the Protectorate, the Socialist period up to the present.

In the second part there are places in southern Bohemia, which are connected with the stay of Master Jan Hus. It is primarily his birth house in Husinec, the Literary School in Prachatice, the Church of St. Jacob Mayor in Prachatice, Hus` Rock near Husinec and Kozí Hrádek near Sezimovo Usti.

The third part deals briefly with the iconography of Master Jan Hus in the monitored area.

In the fourth part is a detailed history of Hus' celebrations at the birthplace of Jan Hus thru various historical periods.

In the other parts there are mentioned Hus's Chapels and Hus's linden.

The penultimate chapter is about Lidicky`s statue of Jan Hus in Husinec Square.

The last chapter of the diploma thesis is devoted to the history of the present-day Brotherhood Church chapel in Husinec, which now also inherently belongs to the Hus` tradition in his birthplace.
