

Annotation

This bachelor thesis is aimed at sick-nursing and communication with patients of the Islamic religious belief due to the fact that today our health workers can meet these patients more often, whether it is in our hospitals or in hospitals abroad. For this reason I would like to inform you in this thesis not only about religious questions but especially about the particularities caused by religious difference in communication with these patients during sick-nursing and thus also about the particularities of the whole approach towards them. The thesis includes not only theoretical information gained from accessible sources of information but also from personal experience of health workers. At the same time this thesis is also aimed at the state of preparation of our health workers and health care institutions in caring for these patients.