

Annotation

This final paper describes the origin and the development of the helicopter emergency service in ČSSR. Mainly it is focused on the development of this service in the Czech Republic, its present organization, obligations and tasks of their crews and it points to the differences between helicopter emergency and land emergency medical service. This final paper includes essential information, which is very important to work of a paramedic in this service.