

ANOTATION:

This bachelor's work describes the development of the parish at the church of Saint Jacob Major in the city district Stodulky during the years 1985 - 2005. At the same time it tries to prove that the general situation in the parish of Saint Jacob is improving in the sphere of parochial pastorate. The number of received sacraments including Eucharist increases both in the original church and in the new community centre. The influence of the parish on the community of believers (Christians) and as well on the neighbouring population is relatively important considering the period and locality of the parish.
