

The bachelor's thesis focuses on school clubs and their educators. In addition to the characteristics of this institution, the thesis also includes the view of educators on their profession and their role of children education. There are also identified problems, that educators face in their profession. The thesis deals with the concept of street-level bureaucracy and career self-concept.