The bachelor thesis examines the actions of Winston Churchill in time when he served as First Lord of Admiralty and especially in his time as a Prime Minister. Main part is dealing with May 1940, because events of days between 24th-28th May determined if Great Britain continues fighting the war or sues Germany for peace. The thesis is based most importantly on issued cabinet minutes of War Cabinet in this term and books written by Winston Churchill. Secondly the thesis works with period press and modern monographs and historical articles.
