

Abstract

Ukrainians are the largest minority in the Czech Republic and they form an important part of both Czech society and its economy nowadays. The bachelor thesis analyzes the causes of Ukrainian migration to the Czech Republic. Regression analysis was performed to obtain results. The work concludes that motivation of Ukrainian migration is the economic attractiveness of the Czech Republic. However, it is not possible to ignore the cultural, ethnic, historical and linguistic relationship of these two nations.

Keywords

Ukraine, Ukrainian migration, international migration, diaspora, Czech republic, labor market