

Abstract

This bachelor thesis focuses on the term gamification and its use in online education. In the theoretical part the thesis defines the terms „gamification“, „games“ and „online education“ and briefly describes the basic principles, history and usage. In the practical part, the thesis focuses on mapping out the most important websites, portals and then it selects appropriate applications that can support today's online education.