

Bachelor thesis analyses psychological fundamentals of human creativity, methods of its development and use of human creativity in social work, especially in emergent methods of social work. It researches programs for creativity development. It also documents creativity development possibilities, ways of lecturers' work leading to creativity development by means of research done in non profit organizations offering creativity workshops to public participants.