

This thesis deals with the psychological background of creation and usage of masks. It attempts to show motives for using masks, describes various functions of masks and the influence they have on human psyche and behavior. The thesis reflects myths, rituals and cultural phenomena in the past and present. It emphasizes the contemporary areas of mask occurrence and their benefit for art education.