

Annotation

The bachelor's thesis deals with the coeliac disease and the quality of life with this disease. It's divided into two parts – a theoretical part and a practical part. The first, theoretical part, contains description of coeliac disease with symptoms, diagnostic procedures, therapy and the history of disease, too. The second part is experimental. The quality of life at the patients with coeliac disease was uncovered through the question blank. The data were evaluated and the results are described in the second part of the bachelor's thesis. Physical effort was researched on men and women living in the Hradec Králové and neighbourhood mainly, but in the another cities in Czech republic, too.