

Education is for people so important, it has so radical an influence on man's destiny, that it will be damaging if it is only considered in terms of schools, universities, young students, formal structures and processes. The most important, the very substance of education is its relationship to man and his development and its interaction with the environment.

In this diploma thesis I decided to intent on the relation between the changing world and the educatuion, on the question how can education contribute to the development of the societies, on the lifelong education and adult education, on the education in the organizations and the conception of the learning society.
