

The main topic of diploma work is the impact of new legal regulation of social services on the institution providing daycare for old people. This diploma work is describing the new law of the social services and it introduces the daily centre for elderly. The work contains research, which is made by interview. The interview was answering on the researching questions about the changes which the law brings to the daily centre. I was asking the employees in the centre, which considers the elderly dementia. The investigation shows, that the interviewed agree with the changes of the law. Some of the responsibilities of the law are not acceptable for demented elderly.
