

The present study analyzes newspaper headlines in contemporary Ukrainian press (as mentioned in the preface). The head section of the study presents the distribution of newspaper headlines and marks the main tendencies in creating headlines in Ukrainian and Czech periodicals. The following sections deal with newspaper headlines in the context of Internet press and journalists' code of ethics. The individual points of the study are illustrated by extracts from the periodicals researched