

The thesis tries to summarize basic information about possibilities of moving training, with emphasis of the importance of versatile preparation according to the age of gymnast. It interconnects the theory and the practice so that the information is understandable and usable for every beginning gym instructor. Suggested activities and its description in the second part of the thesis are only of an inspiration function.