

The thesis deals with horse riding of primary school children in Czech Republic, informs about its development and makes the readers acquainted with methodical processes in riding all over the world.

The possibilities of riding for primary school children in Central Bohemia are taken in the thesis. Various accesses to primary school children in riding in Czech Republic are described and compared in the result part. The methodical project for teaching riding primary school children is detailed here.