

This thesis disserts on a transfer of family behaviour patterns from generation to generation. It is a scheme of behaviour and attitudes, traditions and habits which are specific for each family. These behaviour patterns may have negative or positive influence over relationships in an adult age, particularly when we have our own family. Psychologists such as E.Erikom and others confirmed experience and habits transfer in a family. One of the hardest impositions for adults has always been and always will be to teach children how to prosper in adventures of life. To sacrifice and decide for parenting requires a big courage, especially at the present time. This thesis shows that a deep veneration of traditions and habits and positive behaviour patterns help to get over difficulties on the way of life.
