

This thesis is focused on needs of persons with disabilities. I have specialized on disabled persons and persons with visual and hearing failure. Based on 12 questions record form have I realized interview with 9 persons. In the aim was to find out how far has their live been changed due to their disability, how did they manage to make he best of their handicap in the aspect of health, psychological or social. I was interested in their opinion how does the society settle with their disability. Bigger part was focused on wheelchair accessibility and social policy of our Republic towards to disabled persons. The research has shown that the needs are by each handicap different. But there are some needs that the most disabled persons agree on - such as communications problems and prejudice at the hands of the community.
