

The subject of my thesis is Problems of the syndrom CAN.

This work is dividid into two parts – a theoretical and a practical one. In the theoretical part I want to focus on the definition of syndrom CAN, child and family, justice and risk groups. In the practical part I am going to concentrate on occurrence of children with a syndrom CAN in the Czech republic.

I would like to contribute to get better information about the problem of syndrom CAN and I think my work could be helpful for it. I hope people will be more interested in the fate of our children.