The topic of this thesis is transverse shear in breaststroke swimming. The thesis deals with its occurrence among leisure swimmers and methods of its elimination.