

This thesis is focused on practical processing of theme „elements of p-block“ (16.-18.group) in form of PowerPoint presentation. It is emphasized on utilization in practice – in education of chemistry in grammar school. It contains namely the research of potentially suitable texts and materials and their selection. In addition to that comments for teachers and other materials for education (presentations). Finally, this created materials will be checked in praxis in terms of diplomants work load. This thesis is worked up according to RVP-G.