

This M.A. Thesis brings a survey about sexual sterilizations on Roma in the Czechoslovak area during the period from the first Czechoslovak Republic (1918 – 1939), over the Nazi's era (1939 – 1945), postwar and communist era (1945 – 1989) and post-communist era to the partition of the Czechoslovakia in 1993.

Thesis also includes and discusses the process of investigation and admitting some sterilizations as illegal and refer to the role of the governmental and non-governmental institutions in this process.