

The Czech Republic has been leading the world order of incidence and mortality of colorectal carcinoma for a long time. Despite of the fact the prevention strategy is elaborated very well, we still can't manage to diagnose most of the tumors in early stadium, when the prognosis of disease is the best. There are diagnostic and treatment of colorectal cancer on the high level in Czech Republic, but its prognosis depends on an individual patient and his approach and responsibility to come to the doctor in time with the first symptoms.
