

The thesis is focused on description of present adult education market situation. Incoming economic recession and problems in utilization of European Funds financial sources (mostly from the ESF) caused principal changes in this field. The demand of corporate education was highly affected. We try to illustrate the changes of the market and describe how the changed market works now. We also look for possibilities to succeed in the market. The thesis describes the possibilities of companies which work with public sources. We don't mention the commercial education focused on corporate clients and public.
