

In the present work we study aspects of the security policy development for the specific computer network. The work documents complete development of the security policy. It includes complete analysis of the environment, where is the network located, the draft of security statement and formation of security policy as a document. The work includes also some tips to improve the network infrastructure. These tips are results of the work.