

In my bachelor work I will focus on the ways of support of adolescents, particularly the students of high schools, with dyslexia in Dys-centrum Praha. The aim of this bachelor work is to compile case studies of two clients of Dys-centrum Prague and to show how important is to support the high-school students with dyslexia. I will present the adolescence as an important part of human life, and also the profits of high-school students with dyslexia and its symptoms. The assessment methods for adolescents and adults, and the system of support of adolescents with dyslexia will be introduced. Finally, I will describe how I could obtain information for the case studies followed.
