

Object of the Thesis is mixed partnership of Gipsy and Czech and aim is to show how mixed partnership in specific definition as gipsy-czech partnership experienced by persons involved. How and whether it is mixed partnership felt by persons involved and what consequences brings this definition of marriage for them, how are accepted by surroundings, their children's difficulties and different way of life. Theoretical part deals with mixed marriage in modern society, history, culture and customs of Gipsies. Practical part is dedicated to research itself.